STYLISH NEW BAR

Nailcote Hall has recently opened its fantastic new Celebrity Bar in time for summer.

A place full of tradition, Nailcote Hall still keeps up with the times and has now launched a new 'Celebrity Bar' in the 17th century hall of this beautiful Warwickshire country retreat.

For many years celebrity stars of sport, television, music and the movies have visited and stayed at Nailcote Hall and with the growing success of the Farmfoods British Par 3 Championship more than ever have been coming to enjoy the experience and spirit of fun that is Nailcote.

As proprietor Rick Cressman says: "I always wanted to have style and quality but never to be 'stuck up', so our spirit of fun is very important and certainly very attractive to the celebrities who come to visit us. So now everyone who comes to the Celebrity Bar will enjoy the new furniture and decoration, surrounded by fabulous pictures of the stars who have been our guests and become our friends."

To mark the opening of the new bar, Rick and Sue invited friends and local business people to join them for a celebratory glass of champagne to toast the new venture. Andy Abrahams from the X Factor, Willie Thorne and former Aston Villa footballer Andy Blair also joined them to wish them luck.

The atmosphere at Nailcote is relaxed and the new bar offers guests a comfortable area to have a chat and a drink with friends prior to a meal in the Oak Room Restaurant, or a place to talk about successes and disasters after a round of golf on the British Par 3 Cromwell Course.

During the day the bar provides snacks, teas and coffees and is an ideal place to meet friends and business colleagues, and while you are there, you can see the photos of the special people and moments they've enjoyed at the hall. ■
